Light blue - Dark blue

For centuries man has tried to educate his offspring by developing newer and better methods of teaching. He has tried to push forward by digging a little bit deeper into the pit of knowledge. We, the Seniors of 1965, have also tried to further mankind's cause. With the aid of an understanding and dedicated faculty, we have developed the leaders of tomorrow. Now, we are ready to enter the threshold of life. We have spent twelve years preparing to face the many challenges of life. During this time, we have shared many headaches and also many victories. Through this book, we will present to you the tears, the smiles, the joys, and the pride which we have experienced here at N. P. H. S.

KEITH R. DAVIS
Principal

Mr. Davis, our principal, directs our training from his top school executive position with a firm but friendly hand. Knowing the demands of the larger world we soon shall enter, he tries to prepare us for our future jobs through the excellent curricula of our school.

No large organization can operate successfully without secretaries, and ours is no exception. Mrs. Basey does an excellent job of keeping the cogs of the school well oiled and turning smoothly. Without her calm help and clear thinking, many small troubles would turn into big crises.

MICHAEL W. CUPP

MR. CUPP, with his friendly smile, and quiet manner, has guided our lively class carefully and safely through its last year at N. P. H. S. His calmness has exercised a needed check on the vivacious energy of the class.

The youth of both of our sponsors has made quite a fitting sponsorship, for their energy and readiness for action match well that of the class.

MR. SHELTON'S wry remarks and slow smile have tempered many a vehement class discussion. His firm guidance has helped us through many a difficult decision-making period.

Richard Walker, vice-president; Kathy Barber, treasurer; Gary Bullman, president; Randy Leary, secretary

The sophomores found that their training this year was not so easy as they had expected. Second-year Latin, advanced algebra, and biology gave many students second thoughts about the ease of being a "big wheel," an upperclassman.

Helping guide the sophomores through their difficulties was Mr. Wright, sponsor. His teaching of English helped many students to a better understanding of their own language, a necessary requirement for a good execu-

The freshmen, after "learning the ropes" of our junior high school, finally entered the high school and higher executive training. Some were bewildered by the variety of electives, the different curricula, and the many organizations of the high school. All, however, soon regained their composure and direction and began their course.

Mr. Moore, freshman sponsor, sharpened the wits of the future leaders by his tricky questions about everyday things and his analysis method of teaching math

Co-ordination is important in every sport. Exercises help our boys develop this fast and fine.

After a hard game our Dragon baseball team deserves a rest.

The mad dash to the showers always puts the finishing touch on a "perfect" practice.

Time for our Kool-Aid break

A streak of light! A cloud of dust! Another home run for Richard!

Let's get zabby, boys

It's MY ball. I caught it

This ball is certainly hard to latch on to.

Watch, watch, watch, watch, watch.

My brother is really a good player.

Watch, watch, watch, watch, watch.

You'll find it.

Our basketball players are always in action. This is a shot by a player.

As We Conclude . . .

By means of this book we have presented the happenings and events of our senior year here at N. P. H. S. We have concluded our high school years, but our lives have just begun. We are now entering life and we shall soon face the many challenges and problems it holds in store for us. Because of the training we have received since the first day here at N. P., we feel that we are better prepared to walk down the halls of adulthood and to open the doors of opportunity as we go.

This book is our final attempt to show the love and appreciation which we feel for the faculty and employees of N. P. H. S. We especially wish to thank our sponsors, Miss Martha Willis and Carroll Rumble; our principal, Keith Davis; the photographer, Porter Studio; the publisher, Artmaster; and our many advertisers for their invaluable efforts to help us and to understand our problems. These people have worked tirelessly behind the scenes to make our book a reality.

And now, as we write the final paragraph of copy for the 1965 Avalon, we leave behind us the building where we have studied for twelve long years. However, we do not leave with a feeling of sadness, but rather with a feeling of joy in the fact that we have been so fortunate to have such a dedicated faculty that was willing to prepare us for the new horizon.
